RESISTING TURKS INFLECT LOSSES ON BRITISH

Claims Allies Have Made Successful Landing

WILL ATTACK FORTS IN REAR

Fleet Took Part in Operations and Cleared Way For Second Force

London, April 30.—After very serious fighting, in which the Turks offered a stubborn resistance, British troops, according to an official statement issued tonight, have firmly established themselves on the Gallipoli Peninsula and made considerable advance toward the narrow of the Dardanelles, while the French have cleared Cape Kum Kale, on the Asiatic side of the strait, of Turks. Thus it may be said that the second, and most serious attempt to force the Dardanelles has been fairly launched.

The Turks, under the guidance of their German officers, placed every obstacle in the way of the invaders, but against the fire of the allied fleet and the gallantry of the army they were forced to fall back. The British forces lost heavily in the operation.

Points were selected for the landings, which began at daylight of April 25. At five points they were immediately successful, but at the sixth, near Sedd-el-Bahr, the troops were unable to advance until the evening. The Australians and New Zealanders landed on the west coast of the Gallipoli Peninsula, directly across the country from the strongly fortified harbors. The other British troops disembarked at the extreme end of the peninsula, and by the 28th, when it was decided to give the men a rest and time to consolidate their positions, they had reached the neighborhood of Nekir, which is on the road which runs along the peninsula and over which they will make a junction with their comrades from the dominions and attack the forts guarding the narrow in the rear.

The French took possession of Cape Kum Kale after they had previously attacked toward Yeni Shehr, to the south on the Asia Minor coast.

While these land operations were proceeding the fleet, besides covering the landing of the troops, kept up a bombardment of the forts in the Dardanelles and prevented reinforcements from reaching the Turks from the Sea of Marmora. One Turkish battleship Queen Elizabeth, which is believed again to have been firing new big guns across the peninsula, directed by airmen. The troops were sunk off Maldoz, a town well inside the narrow, which later the battleship Triumph bombarded and set on fire.

Constantinople, via Berlin, May 1.—The Turks claim successes which are not confirmed. They claim to have sunk a French destroyer and to have badly damaged the French cruiser, Joan of Arc, and the British battleships, Triumph and Vengeance.

MONSTER GERMAN GUN BOMBARDS DUNKIRK

Rumor of Attack By Kaiser's Fleet Was Incorrect

NINETEEN SHELLS LAND IN CITY

Allied Aircraft Locate Battery and Attempt to Destroy it with Bombs.

London, April 30.—A monster German gun has been brought up within range of Dunkirk, and shells from the big weapons have been thrown in to the French seaport from behind the German lines near the Belgian coast. These missiles killed twenty persons and wounded forty-five.

Tonight the British Admiralty announced that the position of the German gun had been verified by aircraft reconnaissance, and that it was attacked last evening, twelve small and two large bombs being dropped.

First news of the attack on Dunkirk came in this paragraph in the day bulletin, issued by the French War Office:

"Dunkirk yesterday received nineteen shells of large calibre. Twenty persons were killed and forty-five wounded. Some houses were destroyed."

A misreading of the official communication in connection with the further statement that "German warships had been reported at large off the coast of Belgium" led to the belief here today that the German warship had been shelling Dunkirk, and this despite the statement in the German headquarters report that "the fortress at Dunkirk was shelled yesterday by German artillery."

Tonight this statement was issued by the British Press Bureau: "The rumor that German warships bombarded Dunkirk is untrue. This rumor probably originated in a misreading of the French official communication issued today."

This statement was added later: "The shelling of Dunkirk is now reported by aerial reconnaissance to have been from a land gun, and the reports that German warships were off that port were due to a misapprehension."

Reconnaissance was made by the British also to Ostend, which was cleared of all important craft. A Taube aeroplane appeared in sight, but kept 10,000 feet up and three miles off. A naval aeroplane chased the Taube, whereupon the latter retired.

The report from Paris that the German fleet has been seen off the coast of Belgium is regarded here as doubtful, since British war craft were bombarding Zebruge during the greater part of last night and again today.

INFORMATION DESIRED

Why is Main Street Left Out in Oiling.

The attention of the fair minded people of Bennington is called to the circumstance that their village trustees are showing a marked indifference if not a studied disregard of the manifest needs of a large percentage of our mercantile houses, in that the main business street of the village is left unoiled, while the outlying highways as far east as the Woodford line and as far north as the Meachole bridge are deluged with this costly fluid. Only one side of Main street from the Cooper bridge to Valentine street has been oiled, while none whatever has been applied on Main street below Valentine, or on Valentine or Silver streets.

The result has been, that, prior to the recent rain storm a perfect dust storm prevailed for several days, filling business houses and residences, and causing material damages and discomfort. This condition of things also prevailed all last summer. Why all the outlying streets are oiled while the principal business street is neglected is a problem that an intelligent board of trustees would never have left for our leading merchants to solve while bewildered and blinded and literally choked with dust. Is it lack of intelligence, personal spite or pure cussedness that accounts for these conditions.

(To this inquiry from Mr. Schwartz the editor of the Banner would like to add a word in behalf of South street. This street has the heaviest auto traffic in town, with the possible exception of Main street, and in team traffic it is one of the principal thoroughfares. Last year it was about the last of the streets to be oiled and this year it is so far neglected, while streets with a twentieth of the traffic have been oiled. The trustees have many things to contend with, but the residents of South street ask that they be not forgotten.)

Roosevelt's Attorneys Secure Admission of Evidence Relating to Albany "Printing Ring"

Syracuse, April 30.—After a day of spectacular incidents, the second week of the Barnes-Roosevelt libel trial ended in the supreme Court here this afternoon, and an adjournment was taken until next Monday morning.

An incident that enlivened the day was the election from the courtroom of Charles H. Duell, Jr., a Roosevelt enthusiast, who brought the name of Governor Whitman into the case yesterday by the production of the Whitman-Duell letter. While ex-Senator Frederick M. Davenport was testifying in favor of the Colonel, Mr. Duell could not restrain his enthusiasm, and started to applaud. Justice Andrews summarily ordered him from the room.

All around it was a good day for the Colonel. A dozen witnesses testifying in his behalf, linked the name of Mr. Barnes with "crooked" business and "crooked" politics and Barnes engineered the defeat of the Hughes direct primary legislation and boasted of it. They also swore that Barnes tried to bring about the election of William F. Sheehan to the United States Senate by a combination of Republican and Tammany legislators. One of the Colonel's most important victories was the admission by Justice Andrews of testimony relating to the Albany "printing ring" which Mr. Barnes was alleged to have controlled.

John A. Hennessy, who had been regarded as one of the Colonel's biggest guns because of his knowledge of rottenness in the State Government, was not permitted to say more than a word or two, and H. H. Vreeland, a President of the Metropolitan Securities Company, was shut off from telling how his corporation contributed campaign funds to both parties.

The aggressiveness of William M. Twins furnished most of the fireworks of the day. He unlimbered all his sarcasm against the Colonel's witnesses and tried in every way to discredit them.

He tried to show that ex-Senator Davenport, who fought for the Hughes direct primary bills, was willing to take aid and comfort from Barnes, the very man whom he violently attacked on the floor of the Senate.

One of the most startling bits of evidence against Mr. Barnes was furnished by Royal W. France, Secretary of the Brooklyn Young Men's Republican Club. He told of a conversation with Barnes in which the latter told him the club's attitude toward direct primaries was all wrong because it would bring a candidate too much into the limelight. He said Barnes told him there was not a man living whose reputation could not be ruined by too much limelight. He also said Barnes told him he would take the Republican ruff-ruff of Albany into the Democratic primaries and the Democrats of the same kind into the Republican primaries and nominate such rotten candidates that the people would be disgusted with direct primaries before they started.

GERMANS ARRESTED

Accused of Celebrating Victory in Canadian City.

Vancouver, B. C., April 29.—Four prominent German residents of Vancouver were arrested today, charged with taking part last Sunday night, with a number of other Germans, in a celebration of the German victory over Canadian troops at Ypres.

The men detained are Paul Koop, capitalist; Baron von Luttwitz, said to be an intimate friend of Emperor William; Dr. Otto Guncer, and Fried rich Stritzel.

A long list of Vancouver men killed and wounded reached here Sunday night, and the report of the celebration caused popular indignation.

The Germans arrested say they were merely having a housewarming, generally fair.
